

HENRY CLAY, OF KENTUCKY

SEE FIRST PAGE.

The 'Democrat' in this city, and the loco papers generally in the country are now driving full tilt against a protective tariff and in favor of free trade. To this end, statistical tables of all sorts of complexions are resorted to, and figures, that soberly used, will not lie, are made to dance all sorts of jigs to suit the fancy of the machine movers.

This matter is one worthy the attention of every workman, and every farmer, and every producer, and every man interested in the general welfare of the community. It is a question upon which, if a direct vote could be had with a clear understanding of its merits fully nine tenths of the community would decide in favor of the protective system as contended for by its intelligent friends. The necessity for protecting American labor was so great that our Union was formed upon that as a leading idea. Under the influence of a protective system our country has prospered. The nearer the government has kept to this system the more prosperous it has been, and the farther it has removed from it the most disastrous has been the business. Against these prominent facts there seems to be a determination to prejudice the minds of the people, if possible, against the protective system. If this attempt shall be successful a withering blight will creep over all our manufacturing interests, the home market, now so important to the farmer will be cut off, and destroyed, and distress be felt by all classes in the community.

In England a large amount of money is to be expended in the publication of free trade tracts for general distribution in foreign countries, and in this way, British Gold, is to be made to aid in the dissemination of fine spun theories which England herself will not adopt, but which her cunning statesmen like to urge upon other nations. Practical tests expose the unsoundness of these theories, and England is wise enough to grasp strongly at every practical advantage. It really seems to us that a party in this country manifestly willing to legislate in favor of England, and against our own country, should be known as the British party, and treated as such.

Indian Outrage.

The Pensacola Gazette of the 13th inst. states that Messrs Nunes Larimore and Sears were conveying the barque Emperor to Apalachicola. In the Choctawhatchee bay, near the head, she ran aground, and those on board were compelled to go on shore and make a camp. They soon discovered an Indian camp, occupied by two warriors, two women and three children. The Indians appeared friendly at first; but while the whites were out fishing, they were suddenly attacked by the red men. Mr Larimore was killed, Mr Sears was severely wounded, and Mr Nunes, with a black boy, succeeded in escaping to Lagrange.

The Tea Party.

The great tea party, for the benefit of the Female Orphan Asylum will be held at the Bangor House this evening. Some fifteen or twenty of the young orphans now, receiving support from this institution will, we learn, be present at the party. Every arrangement has been made for the gratification of those who may attend and the cause which the receipts are designed to promote commends itself to every feeling heart. For the cause—for the interests of tender orphans we trust there may be a large gathering at the Bangor House this evening.

Impeachment of a Judge.

B. C. Elliott Judge of the City Court of Fayette, Louisiana, has been impeached before the Legislature of that State, upon charges of "sundry instances of gross omission, commission and malfeasance in office." One of the specifications is his causing and permitting, "in several hundred cases," certificates of naturalization to be issued from his Court without the form, in direct violation of law.

Mr Webster's Letter in reply to a request of two hundred citizens of New Hampshire, that he would become a candidate for the Presidency, was published in the Boston Courier of Monday. After giving his views as to what a President of the United States ought to be, Mr W. declines being a candidate, and very modestly says that the opinions and feelings of the Whigs are strongly fixed on another candidate. Who that candidate is, we suppose no one will be at a loss to determine.

Rev. Mr Springer's second lecture on Astronomy will be delivered at the City Hall this evening. The subject of the Seasons will be explained and illustrated and a delightful entertainment afforded. It will be in ample season to attend the Tea Party after the close of the lecture so that a double entertainment may be enjoyed by those who wish it.

Washington letter writers mention the death in that city of Mrs Reding, wife of a N. Hampshire Representative in Congress. Mrs. R. died on the 20th ult. of inflammation of the brain. She was the sister of Isaac Hill.

The weather was delightful yesterday—bright and cheering. The temptation was very strong to be out doors.

We received last evening from Col Richardson, Boston papers in advance of the mail.

High School Pupils.

We have been greatly pained on several occasions by the reception of communications from the parents and friends of the pupils attending our High Schools respecting their moral characters and general deportment. It is admitted that their intellectual progress is abundantly satisfactory but tears of anguish are shed by more than one mother on account of an apparently downward course in morals and manners, so frequently displayed in rudeness and abandonment of all elevated ideas of self respect. While the intellect is becoming brighter, the heart seems to be withering. This is a sad and startling picture. We have in several indirect methods attempted to effect a change. The teacher we know has labored in various ways to inspire a higher moral tone in the minds of his pupils, and regretted his ill success in influencing them beyond the walls of the school room and out of school hours.

The following communication we have thought best to publish for the purpose of calling the attention of Teacher and pupils to the subject, in the hope that some good may be effected.

To the Editor of the Whig & Courier :

Knowing that you were formerly one of the school committee, and believing that you cherish a deep interest in the proper education of the rising generation, I take the liberty of suggesting a few facts calling for the influence of that vehicle the public press the corrector of public morals, to counteract. It has for some time been a subject of much conversation and great anxiety that a number of boys in the 'High School' have become so corrupt and exert, so demoralizing an influence upon the scholars generally by their profane and obscene language, and figures exhibited in the premises of the out buildings, and in loathsome, obscene books, circulated in school hours! Now I do not wish to complain unreasonably, or require too much of the teacher but it seems to me one important part of duty is overlooked. A teacher should not consider his task performed when the lessons are recited. Neither should he permit the writing or reading of composition where wit is attempted at the expense of virtue or propriety. We as parents expect the teacher to assist us in cultivating the moral, as well as intellectual powers of our children. It should be his endeavor to impress the important lesson of virtue, so indispensable to the safety and happiness of mankind. It is not my wish to bring Mr W., before the public, for I think he is blinded to the faults of his scholars. But there are abuses which must be corrected, or our schools of learning will become nurseries of vice. Will you, Mr Editor, exert your influence to bring about a change.

A. SUBSCRIBER.

To the Editor of the Whig & Courier :

I have noticed the attacks upon the late Military Convention holden at Augusta on the 10th and 11th ultimo, in the Kennebec Journal and Waldo Signal. The course of these papers seem to be in accordance with their past history. Wherever they have said any thing upon the subject of the militia, it has been only to ridicule it. It is so now. Instead of publishing the proceedings of the Convention, like honest public journals, they make a garbled extract of a single resolve and special project of law, only for the purpose of attack, without having the manliness to publish even the preamble preceding it, setting forth the necessity of such a law. I can assure these gentlemanly editors that the Convention was respectable for talent and general information. That while almost all professions were represented, there were several members who were lawyers, and that few deliberate assemblies have exhibited more talent, or more ready debaters than the one in question. And that the members present were as conversant with the Constitution, or Bill of Rights, as are these gentlemanly editors.

The militia system, as a peace establishment, and in time of peace, is peculiarly adapted to our form of government, and calculated to promote a healthy influence on society, and an efficient execution of the laws; and while the law is generally found sufficient, there are regions where, from some cause, it is trampled under foot. This is eminently the case in the County of Waldo. There the militia law has been, for several years, successfully nullified. There an anti-military spirit has prevailed for almost an indefinite period. It is there where the war of 1812 was denounced, and the administration of Mr Madison so strongly opposed. It is there that the British received support, and supplies for their armies and fleets. It is there that the "blue lights" were wont to burn, traitorously communicating with the enemy—and it is there that the enemies of our country were cherished. Hence, this opposition to our militia system. It is inherent.

Here, for a long series of years, the spirit of rebellion has prevailed, and, in some towns, the militia law is nullified "en masse." And if a civil or military officer attempts to carry the law into effect, he is mobbed, and his life jeopardized. Hence the necessity of a strong feature in our militia law, calculated to meet such emergencies. I care not what it is, provided it is sufficient to enable the law to effect its own execution.

But the one in question, it seems to me, is peculiarly to the point. I am, and so were the Convention, perfectly aware that the Constitution prohibits the quartering of troops upon our inhabitants in time of peace, but I deny that this is the case in these districts, but rather a time of open rebellion. Therefore the law would come strictly within the limits of the Constitution, and would be right and just. In South Carolina the inhabitants only threatened to nullify, and troops were centered there from all parts of the United States. In the districts in question the inhabitants have openly rebelled and nullified the law for a long time, and yet, nothing must be said or done to promote an observance of the law. Shame on such pusillanimity. The word of God teaches us that Government is of divine appointment, and in it we are Divinely instructed to obey the laws. Notwithstanding this, portions of our inhabitants become so lost to the duty they owe their God and their country—so destitute of the respect they owe to themselves—so forgetful of the privileges they enjoy, civil and religious, in this land of freedom—so lost to their duty as good citizens, that they nullify in a body a fundamental law of the land;—and yet nothing must be done to preserve our laws and institutions inviolate. Shame, I say again, on such subterfuge.

I know that it would be more in accordance with military rules and usages for the commander-in-chief to order into service the militia. But it must be remembered that, since the days of the lamented Lincoln until now, our Governors have been more of the politician than the soldier. And although the Constitution makes it their duty to see that the laws are properly administered, yet they have failed so to do. But if it is made the duty of the officer in the immediate command of these nullifying districts, to see that the laws are executed. A court martial will look after him, and see that he does his duty.

A MEMBER OF THE CONVENTION.

Mr. Calhoun's Reasons.

The long expected document, containing Mr. Calhoun's exposition of reasons for not consenting that his friends and supporters, as a candidate for the Presidency, shall bring his name into the Baltimore Democratic Convention, for the decision of that body, has been received. It is addressed to his Political Friends and supporters, through the South Carolina Central Committee. He concurs in the ground sustained by the Committee, that the delegates of the Convention should be chosen by districts, and should vote per capita, and as New York and some other States have appointed delegates en masse, by State Conventions, and as Virginia has resolved that the votes of her delegates shall be given by the majority and counted per capita. On these grounds he has come to the decision that he cannot permit his name to go before the Convention constituted as it now must be, consistently with the principles which has always governed his political conduct, and he goes on to explain those principles in detail;—in an exposition and argument of two or three columns in length. He concludes with the following remarks.

Having now assigned my reasons for refusing to permit my name to go before the Baltimore convention, it rests with you who have placed it before the people, and assented to abide by a convention fairly constituted, to determine what course you will pursue.

Be your decision what it may, I shall be content. But I regard it as due to the occasion, to you and myself, to declare that, under no circumstances whatever, shall I support any candidate who is opposed to free trade, and in favor of the protective policy, or whose prominent supporters are. I hold the policy to another I name for a system of monopoly and plunder, and to be thoroughly anti-republican and Federal in its character. I also hold that so long as the duties are so laid as to be in fact bounties to one portion of the community, while they are oppressive on the other, there can be no hope that the government can be reformed, or that its expenditures will be reduced to the proper standard.

Were I, with the evidences before me, to say otherwise of my course, it would be, partially, to declare that I regard the protective policy to be an open question, so far as the party is concerned. which I would consider, on my part, a virtual abandonment of the cause of free trade. That can never be. I have done and suffered too much for it, when its friends were few and feeble, to abandon it now—now, when the auspices every where on this and the other side of the Atlantic, proclaim the approaching downfall of protection and the permanent triumph of free trade. I, who upheld it a gainst monopoly and plunder in the worst of times, and braved the menaces of administration and opposition when backed but by a single State, will not—cannot abandon the glorious cause now when its banner waves in proud triumph over the metropolis of the commercial world. No, I shall maintain immovably the ground I have so long occupied, until I have witnessed its great and final victory, if it shall please the Disposer of events to spare my life so long. It will be, indeed, a victory—the harbinger of a new and brighter and higher civilization.

Much less, still, can I give my support to any candidate who shall give his aid or countenance to the agitation of abolition in Congress or elsewhere; whose prominent and influential friends and supporters shall. I doubt the sincerity of any man who declares he is no abolitionist, while at the same time he aids or countenances the agitation of the question, be his pretext what it may. If we have a right to our slaves, we have the right to hold them in peace and quiet. If the Constitution guarantees the one, it guarantees the other; and if it forbids the one from being attacked, it equally forbids the other. Indeed, the one stands to the other as means to the end, and is so avowed by the abolitionists; and on the plainest principles of morals, if the end be prohibited, the means of effecting it also are. Of the two, I regard the deluded fanatic far less guilty and dangerous than he, who, for political or party purposes, aids or countenances him in what he knows is intended to do that which he acknowledges to be forbidden by the Constitution.

It is time that an end should be put to this system of plunder and agitation. They have been borne long enough. They are kindred measures and hostile, as far, at least, as one portion of the Union is concerned. While the tariff takes from us the proceeds of our labor, abolition strikes at the labor itself. The one robs us of our income, while the other aims at destroying the source from which that income is derived. It is impossible for us to stand patently much longer, under their double operation, without being impoverished and ruined.

The Charleston Courier thus refers to the Address.

"We surrender, a large portion of our paper this morning, to the Address of Mr Calhoun to his political friends and supporters, announcing his determination not to permit his name to go before the Baltimore Convention, and assigning his reasons at large for his course. His reasoning against the mode of organizing the proposed Convention, as calculated to invade one of the important compromises of the Constitution, and the smaller States to their due and constitutional weight in the Presidential canvass, is ingenious and forcible. Thus withholding his name from the Baltimore Convention, Mr Calhoun does not expressly withhold it from the people, but we apprehend that the one is equivalent to the other—we scarcely suppose that his friends, into whose hands he commits his future course, will place him in nomination independently, divided as the country is into two great parties, each resolved on its candidate. We may then take it for granted, that under existing auspices, Mr Calhoun leaves the field to Mr Clay and Mr Van Buren, and we are led to infer from two significant passages near the close of his address, that as between those two gentlemen, he will preserve an armed neutrality."

The Charleston Mercury—Mr Calhoun's special organ—speaks of the Address as follows :

"The Address of Mr Calhoun leaves us no longer the right to consider him a candidate for the Presidency, and we accordingly withdraw his name from the head of our columns. But the creed of Liberty and Peace and Civilization, which he so forcibly embodied in words, and to which his life has been so earnestly devoted, which was the ground of our support of him, and must be the condition of our assent to the elevation of any man to the Presidency—the creed of Free Trade and just government, is our own, and yields to no events, and if in the coming contest it shall remind us of no one but its illustrious author, we shall not the less uncompromisingly maintain it, and hold as enemies those who war upon it. So far from admitting the harmony and success of party as an honest pretext for alighting and abandoning principles, we hold that at all times and under all circumstances, party itself is only justifiable as an organization for the purpose of sustaining and realizing principles, and that a party triumph which does not lead to that result, is nothing better than the elevation to power of political plunderers and profligates.

"The coming Baltimore Convention, then, as the readers of the Mercury must long since have known, may be to us nothing—its decrees nothing—its nominations nothing—will be nothing, unless in supporting the candidate of the party, we can feel that we are effectively advancing the principles which we hold above all party."

MARINE RAILWAY AT ST. THOMAS.

A COMPANY was formed three years since in the Danish Island of St. Thomas, for the purpose of building a Marine Railway, capable of taking up vessels of 1000 tons burden. Engineers were sent out from England, as well as all the machinery for its construction. The Railway is now completed, and the Directors having spared no expense in building it in the most substantial and perfect manner, competent persons, after very careful examination, and witnessing the practical operation of its powers, have pronounced it a finished piece of workmanship, equal in every respect to any Marine Railway in Europe or the United States. The harbor of St. Thomas is safe, commodious, and easy of entrance to vessels of the largest capacity; and all the necessary materials, of the best description, for repairing vessels, are constantly for sale at reasonable prices. The mechanics are as skillful as can be found elsewhere, and the expenses of repairing are more moderate than at any other port in the West Indies.

Masters of vessels sustaining injury at sea, and under the necessity of proceeding to a southern port for repairs, are invited to consider the many advantages enjoyed by St. Thomas, not only as it respects the despatch and facility with which their repairs can be completed, but for the certainty of finding there every thing requisite and necessary to complete them, and at prices varying but little from what would be charged in the principles cities of this country. JAMES H. HICKS & CO. Boston, Feb. 2, 1844.

To the Legislature of Maine.

THE undersigned, citizens of Bangor and vicinity, interested in lumbering on the Penobscot river, feeling a desire to have the Penobscot Boom, now owned by Gen. Samuel Veazie, permanently repaired, and seeing the disadvantages the owner labors under whilst constantly liable to reduction in price of boomage, hereby represent that we think our interests would be promoted by having the present prices of toll permanently fixed for five years; provided said Veazie will immediately put the same in permanent and proper repair.

(Signed,) SAMUEL P. STRICKLAND, and 68 others.

VALUABLE SYSTEM OF ARITH-METIC.
GREENLEAF'S Introductory Arithmetic; New Edition. Introduction to the National Arithmetic, on the Inductive System, combining the Analytic and Synthetic Methods with the Cancelling System, in which the Principles of Arithmetic are explained and illustrated in a familiar manner; designed for Common Schools throughout the United States, by Benj. Greenleaf, A. M. Principal of Bradford Teachers' Seminary, and author of the National Arithmetic; 172 pages, handsomely printed on fine paper and neatly bound, half morocco, third edition, revised, unproved and stereotyped.
[P] The new and popular work has been very favorably received by the public, which is indicated by the large sales within the few months since its first publication. Teachers and School Committees, who have not examined it, will be furnished with copies for this purpose, gratis on application to the Boston Publishers, 77 Washington-st or to the undersigned.
Greenleaf's National Arithmetic for the more advanced Scholars, forming a volume of upwards of 300 pages, handsomely printed on fine paper, and bound in leather; 13th Improved Stereotype Edition. A Complete Key to this work furnished to Teachers only.
I have carefully examined the National Arithmetic, and am happy in being able to say, that, in my opinion, it is preferable to any other that I am acquainted with. I recollect that so highly was it esteemed, both by the Committee and myself, that it was immediately after examination introduced into my School as the text-book in that science.
Yours, very respectfully,
D. WORCESTER,
Principal of the High School for Boys, Bangor.
[P] The above, forming a complete series, for Common Schools and Academies, are highly recommended by all School Committees and Teachers, who have given them a trial, as preferable to all others.
